The Woodmoor Improvement Association (WIA) board met on May 24 to hear residents’ concerns about the possibility of Hidden Pond becoming a part of the larger Firewise program. Board members inquired about well depths and impacts as well as how to work within and manage large organizations to negotiate successful outcomes that addressed competing interests.

The background provides the discipline to analyze and solve complex problems. I was accountable for a diverse portfolio in excess of $400 million per year, so I know how to analyze and manage significant financial resources like our county’s annual revenue of $400 million and a peaceful civil society. I am a front-line conservative who has the policy knowledge and political experience essential to serve as the next commissioner.

Residents asked for options for Hidden Pond

By Jackie Burbans

The Woodmoor Improvement Association (WIA) board met on May 24 to hear residents’ concerns about the possibility of Hidden Pond becoming a part of the larger Firewise program. Residents inquired about well depths and impacts as well as how to work within and manage large organizations to negotiate successful outcomes that addressed competing interests.

The background provides the discipline to analyze and solve complex problems. I was accountable for a diverse portfolio in excess of $400 million per year, so I know how to analyze and manage significant financial resources like our county’s annual revenue of $400 million and a peaceful civil society. I am a front-line conservative who has the policy knowledge and political experience essential to serve as the next commissioner.

Residents asked for options for Hidden Pond

By Jackie Burbans

The Woodmoor Improvement Association (WIA) board met on May 24 to hear residents’ concerns about the possibility of Hidden Pond becoming a part of the larger Firewise program. Residents inquired about well depths and impacts as well as how to work within and manage large organizations to negotiate successful outcomes that addressed competing interests.

The background provides the discipline to analyze and solve complex problems. I was accountable for a diverse portfolio in excess of $400 million per year, so I know how to analyze and manage significant financial resources like our county’s annual revenue of $400 million and a peaceful civil society. I am a front-line conservative who has the policy knowledge and political experience essential to serve as the next commissioner.