and total inorganic nitrogen restrictions in the existing Control Regulations. The new nutrients compliance schedule, for example, are currently set to be enforced at the designated maximum concentrations and be extended through the end of 2021 to gather two full years of operational nutrient treatment efforts. In addition, the division data to determine how much nutrient removal can be efficiently and cost-effectively removed.

Burks said regarding the division and commission. Kendrick said that Dave Moon of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Water Quality Unit Region 8 and WQCD Director Patrick Pfaltzgraft “drew a line in the sand,” saying that the EPA changed its rules on all applicable Control Regulations 85 and 31 issues on Aug. 31, 2015, particularly those

Burd said that the U.S.
Geological Survey presentation at AF CURE on biological activity and sampling on Monument Creek from 1992-2012 was helpful. He said he had hoped to to do a multiple metric indexing study. The previous studies commissioned by TLWWTF over several decades have demonstrated that Monument Creek naturals has a low level of fish and macro-
