Overflow crowd hears about orphan trains
On Nov. 19, storyteller and performer Jane Milne presented this story of hardship, heartbreak, and triumph of young children as told from the perspective of Puebloan Stan Cornell, who travelled this road with his younger brother, Victor.

Although a number of books were written about the orphan trains, one of the more popular books was written by Christina Baker Kline. Kline’s book, as well as the other books on the Orphan Train Movement, have been embraced by many book clubs. In addition to a number of books on the Orphan Train Movement, there were several members of local book clubs. In addition to a number of books on the Orphan Train Movement, there were several members of the audience whose grandparents or parents were children relocated to the West as part of the Orphan Train Movement. The audience embraced the significance of the story and the experience of the Orphan Train Movement.

On the walls during December will be a collection of acrylics by Judith R. Yokanas. In the display case will be a collection of photos of Santa Claus figures owned by Pat Murphy.

Palmer Lake Historical Society
On Dec. 19 at 10:30 is Reindeer Dog. Sienna is tired of being a dog. She wants to be a reindeer! Will her wish come true or will the other reindeer refuse to let her join in their reindeer games? Elf Denise Gard and Sienna spread some holiday cheer with this festive program.

Please note that all Pikes Peak Library facilities will be closed all day on Dec. 24 and 25 and close at 4 p.m. on Dec. 31.

History of the Palmer Lake Star

By Jack Anthony
Harry Krueger and his brothers Orville and Kenny dutifully departed their home at the base of Palmer Lake’s Sundance Mountain with precious cargo in hand. They were being dispatched by their dad Jesse to replace a burned out 40-watt light bulb on the 500-foot, 92-light bulb star that each December shined from the steep slopes of Sundance.

The star was built in 1935 as a show of courage and determination in the face of the Great Depression. Bert Sloan was the community’s leader of the star endeavor and he affirmed the significance of the star. “We tried to keep the town from dying and make it a good place to live. We kept our town alive and we kept our children up.”

Jesse Krueger home announcing the impediment to their mission. “Dad, there’s a mountain lion up there” came the words from heaving breath. Jesse Krueger’s stern look accompanied a surprising directive, “You boys get back up there and change the bulb; the lion will be gone.” The boys reluctantly marched back up and found dad’s lion prophecy to be true, the lion was gone and the bulb was successfully installed. That evening, all bulbs shined brightly as the five-point star decorated the Front Range.

The Palmer Lake Star shines down to dusk in December and also on special occasions. The star is listed in the Colorado Register of Historic Properties and this year shines in its 80th year.

The Monumental Readers will meet from 10 to noon on Friday, Dec. 18 to discuss Cold Comfort Farm by Stella Gibbons. All patrons are welcome to attend this monthly book group.
